Demo mode: the text below is a prewritten sample answer for the synthetic case SYN-2026-006. It was not produced by Copilot.

Basic complaint data

- Case ID: SYN-2026-006
- External reference: N/A

- Product group: tablets
- Batch: SYN-LOT-26A011
- Defect / complaint category: packaging damage
- Complaint description: The tablet carton arrived crushed. The shipping box was damaged as well.
- Severity: minor
- Source: consumer
- Transport, storage and use: The shipping box arrived with a crushed corner and a torn tape seal; the carrier confirmed rough handling at the regional hub in week 14.

1. Technical description and categorisation of the defect

In case [SYN-2026-006] the outer carton of a tablet pack was crushed. The defect belongs to the category packaging damage and concerns the secondary packaging. No damage to the blisters or tablets is described.

2. Statistical and historical classification

The reported defect is classified as occasional. One earlier packaging damage complaint for tablets is given, [SYN-2026-001], with a different batch and closed. It does not point to a common cause, and no other complaint for this batch is given.

3. Assessment of the available information

No complaint sample was returned. The transport note documents damage to the shipping box, rough handling confirmed by the carrier and two further damaged parcels from the same tour. The batch record was reviewed and showed no findings. The documents point to transport damage, not to a manufacturing defect.

4. Conclusion

The damage arose during transport and not during manufacturing or packaging. The complaint is classified as not justified.
